For whom and for what can READY be used?

Educators: with different backgrounds, profiles and levels of experience

- Self-reflect on their individual practice and recognise their strengths and areas for improvement
- Plan their professional development and career paths

Those working closely with educators: managers of education and training institutions, professional development providers, mentors

- Identify the key domains of professional activity and practices for the educator of today
- Update initial education programs for educators
- Develop an integrated approach for the skilling, re-skilling and upskilling of educators

Those working to support educators: policy makers, staff of education and training agencies, staff of pedagogical innovation centres, curriculum development specialists

- Raise public understanding of the contemporary teacher, their role and contribution to the education, training, and lifelong learning processes
- Inform national frameworks and directions for initial education and continuous professional development programmes
